

How Can A Funny Lady Help Promote Your Healthcare?

For over 20 years, Lola Gillebaard has helped people recognize the power of humor and how to apply it to live a healthier, happier and more productive life.

By learning the value and power of using humor, individuals can strengthen their professional relationships and lighten up the workplace.

Lola's uplifting programs equip attendees with information and techniques that can be applied in the workplace, as well as in their personal lives.

Each entertaining and informative presentation is designed specifically to meet the needs of your organization.

What Clients have to say:

"You managed, in a few short minutes, to move, motivate and inspire and you did so with such an engaging sense of humor."

--Diane Dietsch, Regional Vice President
American Cancer Society

"I am truly appreciative of your wonderful talent and with the warmth and compassion that you put in to your message. I have had several people call and ask for your information so that they can invite you to speak again."

--Teri Brown, Events Director
American Heart Association

"Outstanding! Excellent! Inspirational! These are all words to describe your presentation at our first Cancer Survivors' Day 'Celebration of Life'."

--Nancy Lund Steinberg, ART, CTR
San Antonio Community Hospital

"The rave reviews are still coming in. It was fun to watch the audience laugh until they cried and then wipe their tears away as they burst out laughing again. Your message was mixed with real-life humor and laughter, touched with heart rendering real life love."

--Michael Martin, Executive Director
Commission for Certification, Geriatric Pharmacy
